TO FIGHT FIRE Lively Blaze at Ravine Park-Electricians at Work at South Windham

Roadmaster Thomas Guinan and haft a dozen of his track force were called out Sunday afternoon to join the ranks of firefighters. Mr. Guinan tackled the job with his usual energy that has helped him through many a tight place in the varied incidents of his railroad life in days gone by.

A motorman of the Willimantic line brought in word early Sonday afternoon that the undergrowth at Ravine park, near the trolley tracks, at South Windham, was eblaze. When the roadmaster got to the scene, on the next car, the fire had gained headway. It was a hot fire, and had spread over several acres, but in two hours the trolley tracks were safe, and the rain later on put out the last spark.

It is su posed that the fire was started by boys who were picking berries in that vicinity.

The power on the Willimantic line is being supplied from the Thamesville power station and the Plainfield sub-station, and will be for several days. Electricians from New Haven are helping Engineer Kirby to straighten out the difficulties which resulted from the electrical storm Friday evening. Representatives from the General Electric company were also at the plant Sunday.

Mrs. Bedard was ever a lov-ing wife and mother and during her long and severe illness was patient to the last. She was a member of St.

Mrs. H. Curtis Hill. The death of Mrs. H. Curtis Hill oc-curred at her home, No. 5 Grove street, about five p. m. Saturday, after an illness covering the past six years with nervous disease. Mrs. Hill had been confined to her bed for the great-er part of the time since last Christ-mas, but bore her suffering bravely and patiently.

mas, but hore her suffering bravely and patiently.

Her maiden name was Edith Lewis and she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lewis of Mansfield, Conn. In Scotland, Conn., in May, 1861, her marriage to Mr. Hill took place. Since then Mr. and Mrs. Hill have always resided in Norwich. Two children, Pred S. Hill of Great Falls, Mont., and Miss Mary Hill of Norwich, survive with their father.

Mrs. Hill was the last of a family of thirteen children. Always devoted to her home. Mrs. Hill was a faithful helpmeet and a loving mother. She was a woman of high Christlan character and since she joined the Methoacter and since she joined the Metho-dist church in her youth has always been interested in church work. Her death brings sorrow to many friends.

Mrs. Daniel C. Leffingwell. Mrs. Daniel C. Leffingwell.

The death of Anna Edith Curtis, wife of Daniel C. Leffingwell, occurred very suddenly Saturday night at ten o'clock, near Leffingwell, just over the line in Montville. For some time Mrs. Leffingwell has been affected with heart trouble, and although she suffered a shock about a menth ago, improved and had been able to be around the house. On Saturday she felt even better than usual, ate heartily at five o'clock, and after supper went to bed without help. About 9 o'clock she complained of a pain in her side, and finally arose, went into the sitting room and rested in an easy chair, but the pain increased and in a few minutes she passed away.

Mrs. Leffingwell was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah W. Curtis and was born in Norwich. For over fifty years she and her husband have lived happily together on their farm, quietly celebrating their golden wedding on March 18, 1908. Two children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Leffingwell. The younger. Fred A., died January 27, 1390, but the elder, Forrest C. Leffingwell of Bozrah, is living near the old homestead. There are five grandchildren and one great-grandchild, and also one brother, Alfred Curtis of this city.

Mrs. Leffingwell was a member of The death of Anna Edith Curtis

Mrs. Leffingwell was a member of the Leffingwell Baptist church in Box rah and an earnest worker in that or ganization. She was a splendid wo ganization. She was a splendid wo-man, of exemplary character, and as a friend and neighbor she was ever present in time of need. In her fam-ily life Mrs. Leffingwell was a loving wife and mother, and her loss will be felt deeply in the community where she has so endeared herself.
